NEWTON DROPS TWO MURPHY DEFEATS MORE LEAGUE GAMES

The Newton high school baseball team relinquished all hopes of getting out of the cellar in the Suburban league standing this week by dropping two more league contests, one on Saturday at Newtonville to Brookline, and the other at Somerville on Wednesday. Both games went to the opponents by the score of 6 to 3.

Both games went to the opponents by the score of 6 to 3. In the Brookline game the visitors scored on a tally in the second but Newton promptly tied it up again in the last of the second and another run counted in the third to put the home team out front. In the fourth a three run splurge tucked the game away as Newton could do little with the pitching of Noonan, Brookline ace, although they pushed one tally across in the hinth. Newton collected but six hits off Noonan while Brookline touched four Newton hurlers for thirteen safelies, including a home run and two loubles. Jamieson hit for the circuit. At Somerville on Wednesday the local nine got away to a three run lead in the first inning but failed to hold ts advantage as the Dickerman broached nine inserted several timely nits when needed. A snappy double play, Colby to Butler, forcing Chesterfield at second and doubling Vitelio at first saved Rhodes, Newton pitcher in the first inning. In the second Bettencourt led off with a hit to centre and Punzo hit to right. McCarthy slipped and fell going after the ball and it went for a double. Mahan fanned but Wells came through with a single to right to score two runs. Hildreth threw to centre-led trying to catch Wells stealing and he kept on to third. McNamara hit to Doucette who cut Wells down at the plate by a nice throw to Hildreth. Rhodes took Jeremiah's rap away from Litchfield and threw wild to first, putting McNamara on third and Jeremiah on second. Chesterfield got his second hit, scoring both runners and putting Somerville run in the third came as the result of Doucette's error and Mahan's single to right. The two Cambridge teams, Rindge Tech and Cambridge High and Latin are staging a great race for league honors with Brookline having fallen by the wayside and Somerville being out of the hunt through its defeat at the hands of Everett last Saturday. Halliday being fortunate to get this speaker for the meeting. Mr. Bierer is very active in the Boy Scout work in the Newtons and is a resident of Waban and has been connected with the rubber industry for the last seventeen years. He gave a very interesting historical talk on that product with a few chemical experiments which showed the action and results of modern research in speeding up the work of getting the liquid, which is originally drawn from the rubber trees the same as maple sap is in New England, into a workable solid substance.

Mr. Bierer further stated that the success and advancement of the rubber industry is due to the vast amount

Mr. Bierer further stated that the success and advancement of the rubber industry is due to the vast amount of research work that they have done and that any industry that provides research laboratories for their business instead of endeavoring to continue with old style methods is bound to succeed as the rubber industry has done and pointed out that business

Emory Daugherty and his Playboys opened the second week of dancing at Norumbega Park's new Totem Pole ballroom, which was crowded to capacity. Daugherty succeeded the Silvertown Cord Orchestra, which left Totem Pole after having attained a great measure of popularity. The present musical aggregation came direct from the Atlantic City auditorium and appears nightly at the new park ballroom for a limited engagement. Sunday afternoon and evening concerts are given at Norumbega, with classical and poular music by nationally known orchestras. The park's new golf course, miniature style and illuminated at night, is now ready, and so are the dozens of other features which form Norumbega's peageant of pleasure for 1930.

The Buildings Department reports that 114 permits were granted in May with an estimated valuation of $424, 255, of which 29 permits valued at $341,100 were for single dwellings. Comparisons with 1929 indicate a serious falling off both in permits and valuations. In 1929 to June 1st there were 605 permits issued valued at $3,668,556. This year only 437 permits were issued valued at $1,506,078.

With an adjournment on account of a ball game and a refusal to use dial telephones, shows the childish view point of the present Senate of the United States.

Congratulations to Congressman Luce of this district for his vote to sustain the recent veto of President Hoover. Mr. Luce was the only sane member of the Massachusetts delegation Residents of Chestnut hill are well within their rights in asking that heavy trucks be barred from using Hammond street. Hammond street is a beautiful street but it is narrow and crooked and danger lurks at every corner.

While it was to be expected that interested land owners would oppose the use of the north side of Commonwealth avenue for automobiles, it is an improvement which is certain to come in the not distant future. The opening up of this thorofare to automobiles will relieve to a considerable extent the present congestion of traffic on the avenue.

We note that the street department is still at work using a brand of tar or asphalt for repair work which melts under the hot sun and makes our streets a nuisance as well as a lice menace to pedestrians. As we have stated before, street de-partments of Floridian cities use a cold tar for street repairs and it seems as if Newton might follow their example.

We believe it is a great mistake in appointments to municipal office to give the new officer the same salary as the former official had reached after years of service. It is manifest on its face that the new appointee cannot have the same experience and acquaintance with the needs of the department as his predecessor and it goes without argument that he can-not give as efficient service. A lower salary at first with a promise of increases in the future if adequate service is given is the logical and reasonable course to pursue.

"Lest we forget" is the underlying motive in publishing such a book as the Newton War Memorial. Otherwise much of the interesting experiences we shared together twelve years ago would have been buried in the dustry archives of the city, state and nation. The memorial ought to be in the library of everyone who took an active part in the World War, here or abroad.

There will be an accompaniment to her selections by a harpist. There will be "Taps" at sundown by the Girl Scouts, and selections by a fife and drum corps of both Boy and Girl Scouts. Community singing which gives each a feeling of being a part of the program, will also be one of the features, and old songs and particic airs will be sung. Among the latter will be the very familiar one "America, the Beautiful" and particularly appropriate since its author, Katharine Lee Bates, was a graduate from our Newton High School. This community singing will be led by Mr. Albert Walker, choir-master of Stff Mary's Episcopal Church at Newton Lower Falls, and the boy choir from that church will sing during the early evening. ### UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Apparently determined that prorogation should be reached during the month of May, the Legislature held a record-breaking session last week, sitting for almost 24 continuous hours or from 10:30 a. m. Wednesday to 10 a. m. Thursday. It was considerable of a strain on everybody, with the clerks in the various branches, legislative and executive and the Secretary of State's office, getting the worst of it. These latter had the work of handling and engrossing the measures, while the legislators had only to talk about them. But everybody seemed eager to get home for good before the holiday. The Newton legislators stuck it out pretty bravely, all things considered. Representative Thompson and Senator Holis were the only ones who remained until the actual ceremony of proroguing. Apparently determined that prore

It was a trying night, made more so by the fact that in the early morning hours of the last day, when ordinarily everybody is in bed or ought to be, some of the most important action of the year was taken. The Governor vetoed five bills, four of them to amend by the civil service laws and one to raise the salaries of certain district court judges. About 160 House members as were on hand and in each instances the Governor was sustained. None of the vetoes could have been sent to the Senate because the bills originated in the House and had therefore to be returned to that branch.

ABOUT TOWN

We hope the people who were kick-ing about the cold, rainy weather are satisfied with the weather we have been getting this week.

This must be "wasp year." are more of these stingers flying about than we have seen for some time. It is no joke when one flies into a car you may be operating.

The store owners and other business men of this city deserve praise for the co-operation they have given the Tercentenary Committee in decorating their places of business. Have you noticed many—or any chain-stores decorated?

The fire at the tire shop on Washington street, Newton last Monday afternoon emphasizes the need of fire resisting partitions between cellars of stores in business blocks.

The parade on Memorial Day was the most imposing ever in this city. The many thousands of spectators who lined the streets were quite com-mendatory in their comments on the display

One untoward feature of the parade was the shunting of the platoon of Newton firemen who marched down Centre street and onto Homer street so that this body of men, many of whom were veterans of the World War, were not accorded the privilege, enjoyed by the rest of the paraders, of passing the reviewing stand. It was an unfortunate error, unintentionally made, which sidetracked the firemen. The firemen were quite indignant until explanations were made.

He asserted that Adams street is now in as good condition as any street he can build and that if this street is cut through so that it will be a through way to California street, it will be used for heavy traffic. Trucks will use it to and from the freight yards at Bemis. He said that many of the heavy taxpayers on the street had not been asked to sign the petition. James Maher of 30 Pearl street, owner of property on Adams street extension opposed the petition. He is satisfied with present conditions.

William Delaney of 24 Adams street opposed the petition as did Louis Fried of 59 Cook street, who said he is the second heaviest taxpayer on Adams street.

messenger on horseback, Robert Pieper, announcing the passage of the Stamp Act, formed the Second Episode. It carried on the elements of perfection which had begun earlier in the First Episode, "John Eliot and the Indians, October, 1646." This episode was placed on the camping-ground of Chief Waban and his Indian tribe. It was one of the longest of the four episodes and many expressed the belief that it was the most interesting.

When the curtain of light was raised. when the curtain of light was raised, or rather extinguished, the flood of other lights focused on a picture of a peaceful Indian village with squaws busily engaged in making pottery or weaving in their primitive way. Medicine men administered to the sick and braves of the tribe busied themselves making five pointing arrows and in making fire, pointing arrows and in various ways portraying the character-istics of the tribe which one time made its home among the hills of the present Garden City.

Into this peaceful scene, up the stream which represented the Charles River, an excited Indian outlook paddles, jumped out on the bank, pulled his long canoe after him yelling, "The White Man Comes." John Ellot, famed missionary preacher and teacher, led the white men onto the scene, receiving from Chief Waban the "heart's right hand" of friendly greeting. James R. Houghton in clear, full voice sang, and, in pantomime, Raymond Lang, as Eliot, preached to the tribe. It was truly descriptive of the first gathering of its kind on the American continent.

The lights were lowered to denote the passing of time. The second scene reveals a crowd deeply moved by Eliot's exhortation. They are asked if they will accept the teachings of Christianity. They give the sign of their pledge. Waban is baptized. With the signing of "The Invocation" by Carlos Troyer, the second scene closes upon the "first Christian Community of Indians within the English Colonies."

Mr. Hatch representing A. W. Osgood, owner of the Garden City Laundry, objected to the petition. He stated that Mr. Osgood has recently expended over $600 in placing Adams street in good condition. Scene of the Third Episode, "The Village Green," however, topped all others as a spectacle. It was located at Angier's Corner, 1834-1860. To the right was the typical white-painted, I Meeting House with its towering belfry. To the left was the Little Red School House. Dandies of the day were out in force, dressed in their finest, bowing and scraping to every pretty lady who passed—and there were many of them. Daintily hanging on the arms of their beaux were the maidens in their gorgeous silks, bustled dressed, voluminous sleeves, sneck chokers and bonnets.

Way back on the banks of the river a negro lad fished. On the same bank two others played catch. School was letting out at the left, the open door guarded by the white haired master disgorging its lasses with ruffled panties showing below their full dresses and the fun-loving lads in velvet long trousers and ruffled waists.

Into this scene, in succession drove the stage coach, dropping off its passengers and taking on the "bride and bridegroom" who had emerged from the church amid a joyful wedding party. From the left next arrived a lad on a high wheeled bicycle and most spectacular of all the snorting, puffing, wood-burning steam train—first to arrive in Newton with its President and a distinguished company aboard. The entire scene was one of "Modes and Manners," carefully thought out and perfectly executed. In this beautiful episode Charles E. Kelsey, in magnificent wine-colored suit, appeared as the railroad president; Raymond Green, apparently made up by a master, portrayed Lincoln, whose call to arms to defend and preserve the unity of the nation, broke up that happy scene; Charles W. Bond was the schoolmaster; E. A. Pitt and S. W. Pattee piloted the steam train and John J. Hurley, dressed as a first coachman of those ceremony-loving days, handled the rein of the coach and four as only an expert can do. Last of the Episodes, the 4th, disclosed "A Newton Home, 1930" in which Fred Blanchard's clear voice and emphatic expression told the story of what had gone before somewhat in summary to children of the family. Mrs. W. Cornell Appleton was "mother" in this scene and the children were Fred Hammond, Baxter Richardson, Sybil Lander, Marion Morgan and Virginia Lichtner.

The finale was preceded by tableaux in alcoves of the central setting and were very effectively presented, and there was an interlude in which the 10 villages of Newton were represented to in which children of the Playgrounds, so well trained, danced and piayed to the delight of the audiences. Mr. Ernst Hermann, an acknowledged expert in pageantry, was generally given the bulk of the praise for the outstanding success of Newton's pageant. Mr. Chester Arthur Drummond, the author, evolved and created a masterful book and then with Mr. Hermann directed it. Back of the ted a masterful book and then with Mr. Hermann directed it. Others whose work was noteworthy were Rupert Thompson, Jr., who has the Herculean task of providing tickets for everybody; Miss Bunker and Mrs. J. The cast which was organized by Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., fitted well into the parts assigned to them and her tiring task of assembling them nightly, checking their makeup and arrangement of dress deserves the credit which the performances of the cast showered upon her. The music was arranged for under the direction of C. Clark Macomber, Chairman, and Ralph D. MacLean, who directed the orchestra. From opening fanfare of trumpet to finale, Newton's Tercentenary pageant was a gem, the brilliance of which will shine for a long, long time.

Gigantic Gold Dredges

Automobile tourists through the northern part of California are liable to have their attention attracted to mountains of cobblestones frequently Sometimes these piles are 50 or 60 feet high and several hundred feet long. They are never beautiful and they add nothing to the landscape. In fact, they are eyesores, but there is little prospect of their removal. These plies are the accumulation of the gold dredges, gigantic constructions which eat their way through the land and leave a trail of desolation. Farm lands and orchards are brought up by the operators and left in ruin, for the land is useless for any purpose whatever is useless for any purpose whatever after the passage of the dredger. These machines cost about a quarter of a million dollars, but the cost of operation is very small. A large quantity of the earth must be treated to recover a small quantity of the yellow metal, but at that the business is very profitable. The stones taken from the soil are useful only to grind up for cement, but the piles standing today will offer crushed stone sufficient for the demands of the entire country for many years .- Washington Star.

English Legal Minds A barrister contributes to the Times, in a letter, an ingenious and appar-ently insoluble puzzle, which may be summarized thus: A says to B, I will teach you to be a barrister; half fee now, and the other half if you win your first case. B was taught, and called to the bar, but failed to do anything at all for two years. A then said to himself: If I sue him for the installment of my fee, and win the case, he will have to pay me; if I lose, then he has won his first case, and will therefore have to pay That seems unanswerable until we B's view: If A wins, then I have lost my first case and need not pay him; and if he loses, then by the judgment of the court I need not pay him. So that is that; and there is no evident solution.-Weekly Scotsman.

French Superstitions

To a considerable extent, the French peasants still attach credence to the evil eye, to witches, to were-wolves and to other weird medieval superstitions, in spite of years of persistent effort to eradicate these primitive beliefs. In many remote villages of Normandy and Brittany belief in heathen deities Sacred trees are the object of midnight worship, when young girls gather to dance in the moonlight, as in the days of Druidical heathenism. Healers and medicine nen abound in the rural districts and certain animals still are treated with reverential awe. Cases involving superstition are constantly coming to the attention of the French courts.

At length he leaned forward, touched the mother on the shoulder, and asked: "Has your baby been christened yet?" "No, sir. Why do you ask?" ### Finds Throw Light on Tribe of Philistines Reality and even individuality has been given to the Philistines, who for so many generations have been no more than a name, by some of Sir Flinders Petrie's observations on discoveries in Palestine.

It was while searching in ous revelations were made about miss ing epochs in Biblical history.

First the diggers found knives, hand grenades, spoons, and "spurious Egyp-tian antiquities" bought and brought there by English and Australian soldiers. Next the Roman occupation of Vespasian was unearthed, then a city of the Greeks, and then pilgrim bot-tles carried when Solomon was king.

Last came the periods of the Egyp-tian conquests and weapons of the al-most legendary Philistines, together with objects, scarabs and Jewels, which trace the journey of the Israelites to

Great College Honor

Nothing to Hotel Man Where is the high-school student who has not at sometime thought of making Phi Beta Kappa at college? Where are the parents who have not hoped their son in college would make the national honorary scholarship fra-ternity? How—in the mind of the scholastic world—could greater honor be achieved? So much for that. The other day in a large hotel a guest stepped up to the manager's desk and announced he desired to identify himself so that he might get check cashed. "Have you anything to identify you?" the manager asked.

"Why. yes," said the guest after some hesitation, "here's a Phi Beta

After looking at the key long and earnestly the manager looked up and exclaimed;

"Sorry, sir, I'm afraid this won't do Haven't you got a good Elks' card or something?'—New York Sun.

Pacific Mystery

Easter island is called the "Unsolved Mystery of the Pacific" because of the scattered presence of hundreds of immense heads carved out of stone which are to be seen, some standing erect while others are down upon the ground. Their meaning is only con ground. Ineir meaning is only con-jectural and no one has ever offered any explanation which is generally accepted. Apparently Easter Island was chosen as the graveyard for the chiefs of a large Island archipelago which suddenly disappeared. The thou-sands of slaves who were kept at work carving out these images were left without food and fell upon each other until only a few remained. The story of all these events was never recorded and can be read only by inference.

Liberty Cap

In early Roman times, only freemen were permitted to wear caps. When a slave was manumitted, a small cap. usually of red felt, was placed on his head, and his name was registered in the city tribes. Several Roman com-manders hoisted such caps on spears to indicate that all slaves who joined them should be free; and when Caesar was murdered, the conspirators marched forth in a body, with a cap elevated on a spear, in token of lil

Scottish Judge Noted

for Bathos on Bench

Newly appointed judges are invari-ably warned against undue loquacity on the bench. A dreadful example of such verbosity is found in the case of Lord Eskgrove, a Scots judge of a hundred years ago. Eskgrove could never be content with a plain statement, and his efforts to adorn the tale often led him into almost incredible depths of bathos. Condemning a tailor to death for murdering a soldier he declared:
"Not only did you murder him, whereby he was bereaved of life, but you did thrust, or push, or pleres, or project, or propletthe lethal weapon through his regimental breeches, which were his majesty's." On another occasion, sentencing two criminals for housebreaking with violence, he ended a long recital of their crimes by deploring: "And all this you did, God preserve us, just as the family were sitting down to dinner."-Montreal

Eliminating Ground Ivy
A simple and effective remedy for ground ivy on lawns has been found. This consists of a single spraying with sodium chlorate, using 1 to 2 ounces per gallon of water, and that quantity of solution is sufficient to govern 100 source feet, providing a quantity of solution is sunicient to cover 100 square feet, providing a pressure sprayer is used. If applied with a sprinkling can, a trifle more solution will be needed, as that method of application is somewhat wasteful of or application is somewhat wastern or material. The leaves should be thor-oughly covered. The spray can be ap-plied any time during the summer or fall. Since the spray discolors the grass for a short time, it is perhaps best to defer application until late

English Poets Laureate

The origin of the poet laureatship of England is involved in obscurity. In early days the word "laureate" came to mean in English "eminent." It was thus generally, although not always, applied in a literary sense. Medieval kings had poets or minstrels attached to their households, who received pen-sions, although their appointment was not official. In this way Ben Jonson was looked upon as the first laureate, but the title seems never to have been really conferred on him, John Dryden was the first English poet to receive the title by letters-patent in 1670. From that time the post became a reg-ular institution.

That's the actual record of the standard 6-ply Silvertown from the Goodrich Silver Fleet pictured above. It made the entire tour last year ... 30,000 miles . . . and is right now piling up even more thousands of miles on the 1930 Silver Fleet.

at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House before a large and appreciative audience.

Miss Jane Friedman opened the program with the monologue entitled "Viola Goes Shopping." She was followed by Miss Ellen Jamieson who read three dialect poems, by Daly.
After that came Miss Luella Ryall who interpreted the one-act play "A Late Delivery," by Ian Hay.
Miss
Jann Doyle followed with a monologue entitled "The Mechanical Doll." After her came Miss Helen O'Connor who read "Joint Owners in Spain," a oneact play by Alice Brown. Miss Catherine Skelton was next and she read
"A Village Singer," a story by Mary
E. Wilkins.

MIS. Samuel N. Braman, president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, invited all Committee chairmen and the two secretaries to meet at her home, 187 Park street, on Monlay, June 2nd, at 3 p. m.
This get-together was for the purpling and duplication of work.
This very friendly exchange of ideas, which
helpful to all.

"A Village Singer," a story by Mary E. Wilkins.

After Miss Skelton's story there was a short intermission. Miss Helen Morgan reopened the program with the monologue "Mrs. Gippy Learns to Drive an Auto." Miss Joan Pullman came next, telling the story—"And That's That." After her came Miss Joan Cunningham, reciting the poem "Mr. and Mrs. Spikky Sparrow," by Edward Lear. Miss Ethel Sweet closed the program by reading the one-act play "Owin' to Maggie."

The selections were entirely differ-

one-act play "Owin' to Maggie."

The selections were entirely different, some were strict comedy, others romantic, whimsical, pathetic, and dramatic. In each case the pupil interpreted the piece correctly, bringing out the purpose of the story, and holding the attention of the audience to the very end. Also, the fact that the girls ranged in age from six to eighteen, was of interest to the audience. The little ones quickly winning approval by their sweet, unaffected manner, and the older girls by their sincere and gracious desire to please.

Can you imagine Maurice Chevalier Can you imagine Maurice Chevalier a successful business man; working his head off in a chewing gum factory? And all because he's in love with a beautiful and wealthy American girl and wants to prove to her that he can make enough money to marry her. Well that's exactly what Chevalier does in his latest Paramount picture, "The Big Pond", a gay, romantic comedy revealing this famous Parisian star in one of the best roles of his screen career.

Kelly thought the truck had stopped to allow him to alight when Remi Callibaut the driver stopped momentarily to permit traffic to pass. As the truck started again, Kelly was hurled to the street and received injuries. He was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance, but was soon released.

The early villages centered around the village church, and a religious atmosphere seems to have persisted in the numerous churches and many denominations of our time. One early church, the century-old St. Mary's Episcopalian of Newton Lower Falls, with its square columns and high box pews, remains unchanged in its Colonial simplicity. The Jackson Homestead, buit in 1809, well preserved and still occupied, bids fair to double its age, and remain for an indefinite time typical of a style that seems to baffle imitation.

The Hammond House, corner of Beacon and Hammond streets, soon starts its fourth century. The Woodward House on Woodward street, is nearly as old. For 250 years it has remained in the possession of a single family and name. Many other old-time Newton houses have been restored and occupied, their new owners, no doubt, having in mind that, "the goal of all restoration is to have appearance old and usefulness modern." The appeal of the outdoors is met in Newton by its 477 acres of parks, playgrounds and other reservations; a great part of its river front being an extension of the far-famed Metropolitan Park System. These are supplemented by the generous acres of five Golf Clubs, comprising 8 per cent of the taxable land in the city. With the parks, they give a maximum of open spaces. 255 miles of streets make accessible its present homes, and those that are to be.

Newton's growth in homes is reflected in the shifting of real estate values. In 1800, houses were 21% and land 29% of total values. Newton's building expansion has been greatly helped by fixed zoning areas and reasonable building restrictions. A Planning Board passes upon all proposed street layouts, while the Street and Water Commissioners co-operate in the matter of sewer and water connections.

in the matter of sewer and water cor

Apart from its material advantages, Newton has an educational life expressed in its schools and libraries, and in its many literary clubs. A high standard of civic responsibility has been aroused through its Village Improvement Associations and kindred organizations. Politically, the city's affairs have been managed by qualified officials, representing an unusually in-

Formal Music Lessons Children's aversion to music lessons, entailing long hours of practice for many months, can be overcome by making them familiar at an early age with musical toys, according to Frank H. Richardson, M. D., in Woman's

H. Richardson,
Home Companion.
"Many families have found the approach to a real appreciation and love of music is made easier by having the simpler musical instruments around where they can be picked up and played casually even before formal lessons have begun," says Doctor Rich-ardson. "Such simple things as the fife. flageolet and piccolo; the banjo, mandolin or even the humble ukulele; the xylophone or bells will often tempt not only the child but also the guest in the home. "Improvised ensembles prove delightful ways of teaching children good-fellowship and freeing them from the embarrassment so overpowering in children whose only contact with strangers has been formal.

"Many a child who would have been repelled at first by the technical difficulties of the violin or piano, has come happily to these more difficult musical instruments by way of their humbler and more easily mastered numbler and more easily mastered brothers in the musical family."

"Ornery" Long Employed

To Express Contempt "Ornery" and "onery" are corrupted forms of "ordinary." They are dialect or colloquial terms meaning insignificant, low, mean, contemptible, and they express a higher degree of con-tempt and disapprobation than "ordimary" does. "Ornary" as a contrac-tion of "ordinary" was a common pro-vincialism in England in the time of the Stuarts, although it is now nearly the Stuarts, almough its now hearly obsolete. We find the phrase "uppon ornarie time," in the Easthampton records as late as 1679. In Ireland and the United States this form persists in the still more corrupted forms or "ornery" and "onery," which were brought American colonies and perpetuated largely by Irish and Scotch-Irish immigrants, who settled in the South and West. This explains the fact that rnery" and "onery" are generally regarded as southerisms or westernisms. In 1830 the New York Constellation published the following as a southern expression: "You ornery fellow! Do you pretend to call me to account for my language?"—Pathfinder Magazine.

Got Something From Nothing The resourcefulness of the archeo The resource times of the archeological explorer enables him to do some wonderful things in the field that savor almost of the magical. Mr. Woolley, working at Ur of the Chaldees, for instance had his attention dees, for instance had his activated and called to the presence of two small and cleanly cut holes in the ground which were so very much alike that he thought they might mean something. So the work of excavation in that particular spot was halted while a thin mixture of plaster of paris was made and this was poured into the Holes and allowed to set. When the cast was finally uncovered it found that they had secured the lines of a Sumerian harp which had been shaped of wood which had long since decayed and disappeared. The cast was perfect in all its details and com prised a valuable specimen.

Proud Boast Is Old

The germ of the idea of the sun never setting on the dominions of a particular ruler is found in Herodotus, Book VII, Chapter 8. The boast was a common one with the Spaniards in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries and is frequently alluded to in the literature of other countries. It does not seem to be recorded who first used the expression the sun never sets upon the British empire. John Wilson, who British empire. John Wilson, who wrote under the pen name of Christopher North (1786-1854), in his Noctes Ambrosianae, No. 20, April, 1829, says, "His majesty's dominions on which the sun never sets." This appears to be the first use of the expression in English literature.

Veneered for Strength

When you consider veneered furni ture you usually consider it as a cheap and economical method of using expensive woods. But strength, as much as economy, is the motive, points out the American Architect, citing the famous desk used by Napoleon as an example. The desk accompanied the Corsican conqueror to the ends of Europe, packed on muleback or joited over the country on artillery caissons. But now, more than 125 years old, it is on exhibition at Fontainebleau in per fect condition.

Bi-Lingualism in Finland Before Finland was seized by Russia in 1808 to become a grand-duchy under the czars, it belonged to Sw den. Swedish remained the sole offi-cial language until 1883 when Finnish was given, equal rights. Today both languages are on an equal footing, but Swedish is the commercial language of the maritime towns, including Helsingfors, the capital, where it is the mother tongue of a large portion of the population.

Basque Peace Officers Kept Reasonably Busy

Unique is the miguelete. Every-where in Spain, from the gates of the royal palace in Madrid out to the re-motest, humblest hamlets, the civil guardsmen have the right of way except in the Basque province of Gui-puzcos. The Basques have their own police, called migueletes, who wear a jaunty uniform of baggy red trousers. a blue tunic with a cape fixed to the shoulders and a red boins on their heads (a contrast to the civil guards' yellow trappings and gray or black uniforms and shiny cocked hats, triangular and of oilskin). Although a soldier, armed and trained as such, the miguelete, instead of parading about in idleness, has many civilian duties. He carries all the official mail in the province, conveys lunatics to the modern asylum, inspects the roads, teaches the illiterates to read and write, col-lects telephone tolls and also taxes. A Basque is always ready with a bet, which is the common way of ending a dispute about handball, tree felling, grass mowing, stone lifting, swimming, about what weight his pair of oxen will drag or the fighting powers of a ram from his herd. On every bet a percentage is due and is collected by the miguelete. It is the miguelete also who takes charge of the savings bank accounts, and so great is the confidence he inspires among the peasantry that old and young hand over their hard-earned reales and pesetas to this red-legged cop. What prestige! Indeed, it has been proposed that the League of Nations study the corps with a view to making it a world organization.

France First Country

to Organize Zouaves Zouave is the name of a tribe of Berbers in Algeria. In 1831 the French recruited two battalions of Berber sol-diers, who were uniformed in their native costume. In about ten years they were converted into an infantry branch of the French army and the u retained. Before the World war there retained. Before the world war there were four regiments of zouaves still in the French army. The first service that these troops saw outside Algeria was in the Crimean war. They attracted, much attention because of their uniforms and their fighting qualties, and volunteer military organiza-tions throughout the world adopted the uniform, or a modification of it, and the drills and tactics. There were several of these zouave companies in the Civil war, and they were taken into the army as organized.

Canadian Bituminous Sands

In what is known as the McMurray country in Canada, 300 miles north of Edmonton, are to be found extensive deposits of bituminous sand. The fudeposits of bituminous sand. The fu-ture commercial significance of these deposits is as yet not generally real lzed, it adds, although it is possible that eventually they may prove to be of real national importance. It is thought the bituminous sand in Canada is in many respects similar to the oil shale in the United States and that the development of bituminous sand should be considered quite as se-riously as that of the oil shales. Yield per ton from the latter will, in some instances, be higher than from bituminous sand, but, from the point of view of mining costs and certain other fac-tors, the development of bitumi-nous sands will probably have advantages over oil shales.

Put Health First

The views of students as to what makes life happy are revealed by a ballot competition conducted by National Union of Students thro out the universities of England and Wales, says the London Observer. The following was the order of importance voted for the various attributes con ducive to a happy life:

A sound constitution; a sense of humor; a congenial occupation; an assured future; a charming wife (or husband); a blameless reputation; f400 a year; a brilliant career; a thick skin; a good cook; a persuasive manner; a library and a poker face (equal); an artistic temperament; a

Native of the Tropics

Avocados are available in a number of varieties from August and Septem ber on through to the first of the year, says Nature Magazine. The tree, clean and rather attractive, often growing to be from 30 to 50 feet high, is a native of Mexico, Central America and the mountains of Colombia. Thus there are three main branches of the family, but the common, or West In-dian avocado, extensively grown in south Florida, is the most tropical and bears the largest fruit. This fruit is covered with a leathery skin, which when ripe, 's green or, in some in stances, a shade toward purple.

Quantities of Amber Found in Baltic Basin

Amber has been mined for hundreds of years in the so-called blue earth of the Baltic basin. It is classified as a fossil resin and geologists believe that several species of pines have had a part in the formation of the amber of the Baltic basin.

Pieces of amber are torn from the sea floor and cast up by the waves. They are collected at ebb tide by searchers who sometimes wade into the sea and with nets attached to long poles drag to the beach the sea-weed containing entangled masses of amber. Dredges have also been used.

Lithuanian raw amber is the property of the government. Each finde has to deliver the pieces to adminis trators of the state's central depots of amber. Failure to do so leads to charge of embezzlement.

Amber has found its greatest use in the fashioning of ornaments. Artisans who makes necklaces, bracelets and brooches turn the amber on a lathe and polish it with whitening and water. or with stone and oil, the luster being imparted by friction with flannel.—New York Times.

Battle on Chessboard

When Armies Meet in

The principles of chess are based on the struggle of every-day life. It is a battle between two armies of equal strength, fought on a field of 64 squares. Victory usually perches on the more proficient of the two generals in command. In a technical sense, the capture of the opposing king is not permitted, yet when the capture is inevitable, the game is ended. This fact seems to escape the recognition of many players, who direct their enor many players, who direct their en-tire energies to the capture of pieces or pawns, when consistent play would indicate an easy road to victory through the medium of a checkmate The temptation to proceed with the attack before all the pawns are in the field is a great one, but such prema ture attacks are usually abortive and frequently result in disaster. Chess abounds in examples which disaster and def were a direct consequence of the fai ure to develop properly one or another of the pieces.-Exchange.

Blowing Hot and Cold

Doctor Slosson says that heat is neasured as time is measured, only by so rapidly that passing over the hand it cools it by evaporating the perspira tion from the skin, whereas when you breathe upon it more gently from the open mouth the hand is surrounded by the warm air, and hence feels hot. a thermometer were used instead of the hand, you would find that the ef-fect in the two cases is the same, or often the reverse, because the thermometer has no moist skin and regis ters the actual temperature instead of merely changes of temperature.

Original Olympic Games

The most famous of the four great ational festivals of the Greeks was the Olympic games. They were cele-brated in the sanctuary of Zeus at Olympia every four years, but, owing to the fluctuations of the Greek lunar calendar, the time varied from the beginning of August to the middle September. Olympia was situated the Pisatis, the southeast district at the junction of the Cladeus the Alpheus. It was never a with town but only a sanctuary with the buildings connected with the worship

The will of Chief Justice White has been considered a perfect example. It contains but 51 words. It reads: "This is my last will. I give, bequeath, and devise to my wife, Leita M. White, in complete and perfect ownership, all my rights and property of every kind and nature, whether real, personal or mixed, wherever situated, appointing her executrix of my estate, without bond and giving her seisin therof." A will should be prop-erly signed and witnessed.

Full-Dress Rehearsal

An old actor-manager died, or at least his relatives thought he had and arrangements were made for the funeral.

On the appointed day one of his old colleagues arrived to pay his last respects, but, to his astonishment, the would-be mourner was informed that the "deceased" had come to life after a period of coma.

"Just like Bill," said the visitor, "he was always a terror for rehearsals.

The Advisory Brigade

Did you ever notice that it is the men and the women who have not made monumental successes—in fact, those who have been practical fail-ures—that are always the freest in telling business people just how they should run their businesses? Most people who succeed have to stick to and look after their own businesses very closely, hence have no time to spare to attend to the affairs of other people,-New Albany Tribune.

The Recreation Board of Waltham recently adopted an order prohibiting the playing of golf on any playgrounds in that city. Persons have been injured on and near playgrounds there by flying golf balls. Similar complaints have been heard from persons in this city. Boys have been the principal offenders. Hitting of golf balls on playgrounds in this city should not only be prohibited, but this prohibition should be enforced.

MAKE YOUR OWN RATES

Some members of the Massachusetts legislature, as well as many others outside, have an idea that insurance rates on automobile lines would be lower if someone else besides the insurance, and the only means of securing lower rates seems to be in trying to devise new and devious ways of handling or supervising the business.

The report of a company which paid out large sums in automobile fire and the forts to obtain cheaper labor. Mr. Whitman's arguments were not provided as a noverseer there, although not so far South as Alabama, and in a State where children under 16 are not permitted to labor in mills. It was his observation that women do not want to work nights in mills. They do so through necessity, or because they will lose their positions unless they agree to do so. The sad part of the discussion among the cotton manufacturers is—that the co

Newton Elks Hold Exercises At Plumbers' Strike Causes Walkout

The plumbers and steamfitters of Newton and vicinity, members of the Newton plumbers union, who struck on June 1st for a five day week and $12 per day have brought about a complete cessation of work on the new bathhouse at Crystal Lake, Newton Highlands. The plumbing work on the bathhouse is being done by Benjamin Thomas of Newton. The rough plumbing was completed before the strike went into effect. The first of this week Mr. Thomas moved into the building a gas heater which was outside the structure. As a result, a sympathetic strike of carpenters, roofers, painters, electricians, plasterers and all union men employed on the building was called. General contract work on the bathhouse was supposed to have been finished the middle of this month but Buildings Commission or Chadwick is in doubt now if the bathhouse will be ready for use this summer. George H. Tracey, chairman of the Newton School Committee was in charge of the meeting and seated on the stage were Mayor Weeks; Payson M. Smith, State Commissioner of Education; Supt. of Schools Wheeler; Mrs. Helen S. Hutchinson and Miss Bragg. Mr. Tracey, in opening the meeting paid a high tribute to Miss Bragg's services to the schools of Newton. He presented Mayor Weeks as the first speaker. The Mayor Stressed Miss Bragg's work for health education in the Newton schools and the tremendous benefits enjoyed by Newton children as a result. He voiced his appreciation of her assistance in bringing the schools here to their present high standards and wished her success in her new field. Commissioner Smith informed the gathering that because of poor health he has had to decline speaking engagements and that he had only attended one other public meeting on an evening during the past year. But, because of his admiration for Miss Bragg's influence, not alone on Newton's schools, but on schools all over the country, he came to pay tribute to her. Mr. Smith lauded the schools here as among the best in the Commonwealth. He asserted that they are on such a high plane that no resident of this city should find it necessary to send his or her children to a private school.

Supt. Wheeler spoke in glowing terms of Miss Bragg's efforts in behalf of the children of this city. He referred to the popularity she enjoyed among this city's 1,000 school pupils and the esteem in which she is held by the many thousands of young men and women who attended—and women who attended our schools in former years. # SERVING MANY BUSINESSES

Experience of large fleet owners reveals the unusual reliability and economy of the new Ford

SIGNIFICANT TRIBUTE to the value of A the new Ford is found in its increasing use by Federal, state and city governments and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most instances, the Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests of every factor that contributes to good performance-speed, power, safety, comfort, low cost of operation and up-keep, reliability and long life.

Prominent among the companies using the Ford are the Associated Companies of the Bell System, Armour and Company, The Borden Company, Continental Baking Corporation, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, General Electric Company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Kellogg Company, Knickerbocker Ice Company, Morton Salt Company, Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, The Procter and Gamble Company, and Swift & Company.

Each of these companies uses a large number of Ford cars and trucks. The Associated Companies of the Bell System use more than eight thousand.

Modern business moves at a fast pace and it needs the Ford. Daily, in countless ways and places, it helps to speed the production and delivery of the world's goods and extend the useful service of men and companies.

Constant, steady operation over many thousands of miles emphasizes the advantages of the sound design of the Ford car, its high quality of materials, and unusual accuracy in manufacturing. Beneath its graceful lines and beautiful colors there is a high degree of mechanical excellence.

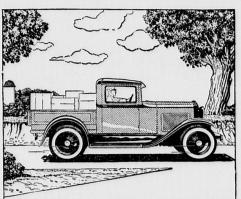

An example of the value built into the Ford is the use of more than twenty ball and roller bearings. They are hidden within the car and you may never see them. Yet they play an important part in satisfactory, economical performance. Their function is similar to the jewels of a fine watch.

Throughout the Ford chassis, a ball or roller bearing is used at every place where it is needed to reduce friction and wear and give smooth, reliable mechanical operation.

At many points, as on the transmission counter-shaft, clutch release, fan and pump shaft, and front drive shaft, these ball and roller bearings are used where less costly types of bearings might be considered adequate.

Additional instances of the high quality built into the Ford are the extensive use of steel forgings, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, Rustless Steel, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, and the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield.

The Ford policy has always been to use the best possible material for each part and then, through large production, give it to the public at low cost.

Miss Mabel C. Bragg, in entering her new field of educational work, carries with her the consciousness of twelve years of efficient and notable accomplishments in the schools of this city, as well as the sincere regrets of her numerous friends that she is leaving us.

We note the fact that this year is the seventieth in the life of the Newton High School. What a lot of reminiscences can be felt by the thousands of graduates who have passed its portals.

The Newton War Memorial ought to be in the library of every public spirited resident of this city, "Lest we forget, lest we forget."

A notable and well deserved tribute to the late Hon. Samuel Leland Powers was that paid to him before Judge Feld of the Massachusetts Supreme Court last Saturday.

alty and helpfulness, or to roice his regret at her leaving. He said in part,—"She departs with the deepest respect and best wishes of a host of friends. She goes, I am sure, with the feeling that Newton has been good to her."

"We sometimes say of children that they were fortunate in the choice of their parents. In the same way, I think Miss Bragg was fortunate in choosing Newton as the laboratory for her achievements, although I had to use a little persuasion to induce her to come here. She has had no small part in the successful administration of our schools in whose interests she has consecrated her strength and her talents. Newton has been per opportunity, and well she has met it, and the results to her and to us aging the past few weeks, you have had the results to her and to us and the results to her and to us and the results to her and to us and the results of her and to us and the results of her and to us and the results of the results of the results of the results of the rand to us and the results of the resul

"On many and varied occasions during the past few weeks, you have had tangible evidence of the love and esteem in which you are held by the teachers and principals of Newton. This tribute of good will is, I am sure, a source of great satisfaction to you. It is a spontaneous expression of approval of your helpful leadership." In behalf of her associates in the Newton schools Mr. Wheeler presented Miss Bragg with a substantial purse of gold.

In response, Miss Bragg expressed her appreciation for the gift and for the honor shown her by those who had gathered to evidence their friendship. She told of the enjoyment she had derived from her work in the Newton schools and of her gratitude for the loyal support she had received from the teachers. She praised Mr. Wheeler's leadership as Superintendent of the schools of this city. She stated that although she is to relinquish her position in the Newton schools, she will not leave this city, which she has grown to love, but will continue to reside here and will endeavor to be helpful to the city.

The last issue of the Boston University Press Bulletin contained laudatory references to Miss Bragg. Included among these were the following: In response, Miss Bragg expressed Story-teller, teacher of children Story-teller, teacher of children, teacher of teachers, supervisor, "co-ordinator," lecturer, and educational leader of the twentieth century. Miss Brag will bring to students in Boston University's school of education an unflagging zeal and personality that is worth more than twenty college degrees. She was never graduated from a college.

UPPER FALLS TIED AT TOP IN HUB LEAGUE

The Newton Upper Falls A. A. re-tained its tie for first place in the recently formed Hub Twi-league when it defeated the Hopedales of Allston at the Upper Falls playground last Sunday afternoon. A crowd of 4000 witnessed the contest. Barr, the local pitcher, was in fine form. He fanned seven, issued but two passes and al-lowed but five scattered singles.

Newton took the lead in the first with a solitary tally and in the first of the third the visitors tied it up. The last of the fifth inning opened with Proctor hitting for two bases, F. Bennett, Upper Falls first baseman, and Temple, right fielder, both hit triples to score the deciding two runs.

the fall. William Sutcliffe, another former Newton and Bridgton athlete, is planning a similar course.

RINDGE WINS TO ANNEX FIRST TITLE

Bernard Litchfield was elected to captain the 1931 Newton High School baseball team at a recent meeting of the letter men. Litchfield is a three-sport athiete. He played in the backfield on the football eleven and was a substitute defense player on the hockey team. During the past baseball season he played the outheld in the early games before Coach Sullivan put him on third base where he filled a glaring weakness caused by the ineligibility of George Bennett acceptably.

At a meeting of the athletic committee this week letter awards and numerals were awarded as follows:

tinct forward step. There are a number of letter men available in all sports.

In baseball it would seem that Coach Sullivan has laid a foundation for a nine that should be far removed from the bottom of the league. In addition to Captain-elect Bernard Litchfield other members of this year's nine to return will be George Hildreth, Charles Butler, Warren Colby, George Kraber, and Tommy Rhodes. There are several others scholastically ineligible this year who may fit in nicely next season. Litchfield, Butler and Colby will probably be the nucleus of the 1931 infield. Hildreth, who started the season in the outfield only to be forced to don the catcher's mitt and mask when the three receivers on the squad became ineligible, will undoubtedly return to one of the outer gardens. Rhodes and Kraber are pitchers. The former, a freshman, is one of the best prospects at Newton in years and had he been supported by a stronger team this season would have been far more impressive than he was. He has a world of stuff for a schoolboy, is cool with men on bases, learns quickly, and uses his knowledge well. His outstanding weakness is lack of speed, due in all probability to his youth. Added weight and the experience he gained this season should be of inestimable value to him in 1931. Kraber pitched several nice games and should have hung up a better record with a better team. His main weakness seems to be lack of confidence in himself. With veterans having the inside track on five of the nine positions the prospects for 1931 are good. Next year's regular catcher will probabily be one of two on this year's squad at the start of the season who later became ineligible. Norbert Champagne or Tommy Lyons. One infield postion and two outfield positions will be better team who were brought up to the varsity squad near the close of the season will be bat.

CHILDREN CAN WADE IN FARLOW PARK POND

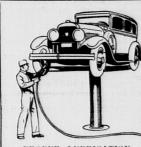

The controversy which has caused considerable argument among residents of the Farlow Park section was settled Tuesday when Mayor Weeks agreed with Street Commissioner Stuart that children under 9 years of age can wade in the little pond at Farlow park, Newton. This decision of the Mayor followed an interview he had with Mrs. Gray Blandy of 56 Eldredge street who has been prominent in the opposition to the use of the pond by the children. To offset Mrs. Blandy's complaints against wading in the pond, a petition was presented to the Mayor recently, signed by a number of persons residing near Farlow park and asking that the children be permitted to wade in the pond, skate on it in the winter, and that the pond be kept properly filled and clean.

No wading will be permitted in the pond Sundays and 6 p. m. will be the latest it will be allowed week days. John J. Barry of River street, West Newton, wit, political strategist and employee of the Forestry Division of the Street Department, is custodian of the park this summer and has been delegated to watch over the youngsters "cool off" in the pond.

The attendance was good on all four days of the Exhibit, but the musfour days of the Exhibit, but the mus-ical program included on Sunday, made that a record day. Particularly enjoyable was the evening program by the choir boys of Saint Marrys Episcopal Church, directed by Mr. Albert Walker, Newton Lower Falls, sponsoring this part of the celebra-tion.

While it was impossible as one looked back to the olden days, not to make comparisons with our more efficient equipment, who shall say what will be the result, should a similar exhibit be staged 100 years from now. Surely we are not going to stand still from now on, and what will be the result? Will our fast trains, our automobiles, and our aircraft, draw similar comparisons from our descendants one hundred years from now? Who knows?

Why He Was Sad

Once a worn, despondent man walked into a consulting room. The doctor examined him. He was sick; but nothing serious, nothing organic, was wrong. "You are suffering from low spirits. You need to be cheered up, to be made to laugh. Go to the theater and see our great comedian, Grimaldi." "I am Grimaldi," said the patient.—The Churchman.

Alderman Chase stated that his object in suggesting the closed meeting was because he wanted to ask some questions concerning Mr. Ellis-before he would vote on the matter of the salary increase. He explained that not knowing the appointee, he desired to learn more about him.

Alderman Gallagher of Ward 1 bitterly assailed the proposal to have the aldermen go into secret session on the matter of confirming Mr. Ellis. He said "What are we afraid of? Let the public hear what we have to say about this matter. We will discuss it right here and now. There is too much underground stuff: confirm this man in the open Board as has been done in all other confirmations. Are we afraid the public might hear the story?"

Alderman Chase replied that it was not his purpose to have the meeting private and he would not so insist. He merely desired certain information. fess that I am one of those soft-hearted individuals who feel that the human or inhuman race causes much of the suffering inflicted on the four-footed creatures. Without going into a discussion of that point I defy con-tradiction when I state that the prob-lem of relieving cats and dogs of misery is a part of the complex prob-lem of life.

In spite of the frequent reduction in the prices of new automobiles and in the descending values in used cars, there are still some of us who stick to the trolleys—because we are obliged to, if you want the truth at This, I think, should be said before somebody asks why we don't get a small car and regulate our own transportation system between Newton and Boston. But we are not alone, we should not be said before the street of the s they are said to be dissatisfied with the rearrangement. Well, at least they can get the windows open.

As long as cats and dogs wander abroad through the earth they are tertain to have their troubles like their human co-inhabitants. I continued to be my good fortune last week to inspect the theatre at Yale University. If you are interested in the latest in playhouses you certaint to have their troubles like know you must have looked upon theatres and admired them for vari-students who were working on the stage.

Yet the stage itself is only a small part of this model institution. There are rooms where the scenery is designed, another where it is painted. A third where it is put together. There are rooms where they are dyed, finished and fitted. A property room where everything from Egyptian chariots to bungalow breakfast nooks are constructed. Smaller things like daggers, ship's lanterns and thousands of other properties are here created. It would be folly to attempt to describe in a few paragraphs all the wonderful devices that are at hand for stage productions. The lighting facilities exceed those of the commercial theatre in every respect. The facilities for handling the scenery contain all the newest wrinkles. It is a compiete revelation.

And what is more the work is done entirely by students. No hired stage hands, no workers of any kind but toose who are taking the various courses. The usher who shows you your seat is studying theatre management as is the young man or woman in the box office. Everybody there is engaged in some branch in which hopes to become expert and make a schoolroom.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

One of the features of the Flag Day arade under the auspices of Newton Lodge of Elks last Sunday was These colored troops have been trained for several years by Major Frank T. McCabe who resides on this outfit carry the highest decoration of any Massachusetts national guard unit. The 372nd Infantry during the World War fought junction with the 57th Division of the French Army and its colors were decorated with the Croix de Guerre with Palm. The battalion which paraded Newton on Sunday was commanded temporarily by Captain Harvey Wilson. Captain Harvey was decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross for bravery displayed while fighting in France. He won first place among all Massachusetts national guardsmen in marksmanship in 1928. and was second highest man in 1929.

The controversy which has been waged lately over the use of the small pond at Farlow Park reminds us of an incident which occurred there back in the 19th century when the writer was a small, red haired, freckled faced kid. One very hot summer morning in company with another youngster we went to Farlow Park. The little pond was well filled with clean water. The fountain in the pond was kept spraying in those days. Wading in the pond was not allowed. Our companion, who was rather an erratic child, suddenly announced that he would go swimming in the pond. We panion, who was rather an erratic child, suddenly announced that he would go swimming in the pond. We informed him that he could not engage in such a pastime as he would not be permitted to disrobe and bathe in the diminutive body of water. He replied that he would go in swimming and he would wear his clothes. So, garbed in shirtwaist, pants, shoes and stockings he waded into the pond, immersed himself, simnto the pond, immersed himself, sim-dated swimming by thrashing with both legs and one arm, and pulled himself along by placing his other hand on the bottom of the pond, meantime puffing like a porpoise. As our comrade was thus engaged a couple of ladies passed through the park and stopped to gaze with amazement and apprehension at the "swimmer."

and stopped to gaze with amazement and apprehension at the "swimmer." They asked me—"Did he fall in?" And when I truthfully replied that he had not fallen in, but was "swimming," they seemed rather puzzled. Finally a lady came along and upon viewing the quite modestly garbed bather, suggested that he emerge from the pond. He emphatically refused to follow her suggestion. Whereupon the lady went in search of Myles Joyce, who at that time was custodian of the park. She found Mr. Joyce at work on a nearby estate and told him of the invasion of the pond.

Mr. Joyce hastened to the scene bearing a long handled rake. He tersely commanded the "swimmer" to vacate the water and upon the refusal of the latter to obey, the custodian attempted to rake him out of the water, but the small boy retreated rapidly to the center of the pond and invited Mr. Joyce gave vent to his opinion of the youngster and departed in disgust. Finally, our companion tired of his peculiar method of "swimming," emerged from the pond and informed us that he was going home to tell his mother that the writer had pushed him into the water. Upon which, we old him that if he should lie about us so basely, that while we did not push him into the pond, we surely would push him in the face.

RECITAL

On Thursday evening, June 12, at the Central Congregational Church at Newtonville occurred the annual piano recital by pupils of the Misses Cotton. The room was charmingly decorated by the thoughtful courtesy of Mr. Rosenthal, whose little daughter is one of the pupils appearing on the evening's program. Palms delightfully grouped formed a perfect background with a basket of pale pink carnations as a focus.

From the opening number of the program the attention and interest of the audience was held by the clear cut fingering, the crisp phrasing, and the evident sense of rhythm which even through at times the execution might be faulty.

It was interesting to follow the gradations from these little ones who were beginning so well to the pupils of longer standing whose playing showed the fine musical appreciation and excellent technic which would be the natural result of so careful a beginning.

An interesting feature of these re-

It suggests a happy co-operation between pupil and teacher as well as a love for music on the part of the pupil. Our good wishes go with them for a continuation of these pleasant

The Ward 1 alderman also referred to the fact that several of the City Engineer's assistants, men who have worked from 15 to 51 years for this city, who are accredited civil engineers, have been repeatedly within late years denied increases of $100, even though they receive but $2800. He also called attention to the fact that the new appointee will receive a considably larger salary than does the Librarian, Fire Chief and other department heads. He said "I believe the Mayor has acted sincerely in this matter and is doing what he believes to be for the best interest of the city in making this appointment. I feel confident that Mr. Ellis is a capable man and I do not blame him for asking for $4500 if he is worth such a salary and can obtain it elsewhere."

Favoring the confirmation of Mr. Ellis, Alderman Harte of Ward 6 said—

"Is it not pertinent, Mr. President, to clarify certain of the issues relative to Mr. Ellis's confirmation that have been raised by the excellent specches just made by the Vice President of the Board and the Alderman from Ward I."

"The same principles are involved in the question before us this evening. Will we or will we not confirm Mr. Ellis's appointment as Water Commissioner."

"Our decision must be given on one, and one only, point. Is Mr. Ellis fit or unfit to perform the duties of Water Commissioner in Newton? We have nothing to say whatsoever as to whether he should be a Newton resident, whether he should be 70 years old of 30 years old, what his previous experience must be, etc., etc. The settlement of such matters is a duty of the executive branch of our City Government, and therefore is decided by the Mayor."

"The only question we are privileged to pass on is: Is Mr. Ellis fit or unfit for the office? If he is fit, we should confirm him; if, in our judgment, he is unfit, we should not confirm his appointment."

Defending the appointment and salary increase, Alderman Grebenstein of Ward 2 said—that when he learned of opposition to the appointment of Mr. Ellis, he went to Mayor Weeks' office and inquired what method had been pursued in making this appointment. He was informed that the Mayor had written to several engineering concerns asking that each submit three names of men competent to take the position of Water Commissioner of this city. The names heading these lists were those of the man who declined to accept the position (Mr. Kilham of the Metropolitan Water Board) and Mr. Ellis, the vertical three has been been been concerned that the position of Water Commissioner of the Board has shown that Mr. Ellis is not a fit man for the job. ### Low Water In Charles River Spoils Canoeing And Causes Health Protests

Officials Investigate Conditions There And Plan To Prevent

For the past several weeks the water in the Charles River between the dam at Moody street bridge in Waltham and Newton Lower Falls has been so low that canoeing on the river has largely been spoiled, launches at Norumbega Park have been stopped from navigating the stream and large areas of mud flats have been exposed to create stenches under the rays of a burning sun. Naturally, protests arose and as a result Mayor Weeks has been in communication with the Metropolitan District Commission and the State Board of Health.

The cause of this unusual, undesirable and unhealthy condition on the most beautiful and most patronized section of the Charles River is—the drastic change in late years in women's wearing apparel. This may appear to be a weird statement, but it is a fact.

In 1813 the first large textile power plant in this Commonwealth, and one of the first in this country, was established at Waltham. pear to be a weird statement, but it is a fact.

In 1813 the first large textile power plant in this Commonwealth, and one of the first in this country, was established at Waltham. The Boston Manufacturing Company, makers of fine cotton fabrics, built a large mill on the shore of the Charles at Waltham and to obtain water-power erected a dam there, obtaining certain riparian rights. Seven years later, the interests controlling the big cotton mill, built a bleachery and dye works about a mile down the river.

The Boston Manufacturing Company and the Waltham Bleachery thrived for over a century until the women and girls, in recent years, changed from wearing long skirts and ample underthings to the quite abbreviated costumes which comprise the attire of the ordinary female today. Also, modern feminine clothing instead of being made of ginghams and other cotton to the water and cause unhealthy conditions. In the water in the river dropped 32 tinches below normal level point.

Following the complaints made to the Mayor of Newton, Metropolitan District Commission and the State Board of Health, officials of the later to have made a report this week. Officials of the Boston Manufacturing Company have shown a disposition to co-operate in remedying the nuisance water and replaced the flash boards. It is probable that Newton and Waltham the costumes which comprise the attire of the ordinary female today. Also, modern feminine clothing instead of being made of ginghams and other cotton centre and cause unhealthy conditions.

Mr. Wells is president and treasurer of Brown & Wells, manufacturers of cravats and has built up a large business. At 9:30 Tuesday night, Dr. Lund of 319 Longwood avenue, Boston, received a telephone call from Mr. Wells asking that the doctor come to the Kingston street address. Before any further information could be given by Wells, he collapsed, apparently. The physician notified police headquarters in Boston and a squad of men went to Mr. Wells' business place, broke in the door and found him unconscious on the floor. He was rushed to the Faulkner Hospital at Jamaica Plain where he recovered consciousness long enough to tell that he had left his office shortly after 6 p. m., went to a nearby barber shop and returned to the office about 7 o'clock.

As he entered the place he encountered two young men who assaulted him and forced him into an inner office where the safe was located. He was ordered to open the safe and when, after fumbling with the dial for a few minutes, he refused to yield to the demand of the robbers, he was beaten and kicked, robbed of his watch and $90 in cash. He was then carried to the outer office and as his assailants were searching for a rope with which to bind him he tried to escape by climbing a stairs leading to a balcony. The robbers caught him at the top of the balcony, kicked him severely and then threw him over the balcony to the floor underneath. A couple of hours later he recovered sufficiently to telephone Dr. Lund. At the hospital it was found that Mr. Wells had received probable fractures of the skull and neck, lacerations of the right eye. His name was placed on the danger list.

The track meet on the Newton Tercentenary program took place on the field of the Y. M. C. A. last Saturday, June 21. The events were closely fought out and were entitled to a much larger attendance.

In the 100 yard dash four heats were run off to decide that Pescosolido, Fullerton, Kollmyer, Mercer and Jarrell should go into the final heat. The finish was close with the order as above, Pescosolido having the speed on the last 20 yards.

The shot put gave Pescosolido a chance to add another gold medal to his list with a clean put of 4 ft. 6 inches with Colligen only a few inches back and McCabe getting a 3rd.

The S80 yd. was another scrappy race with 6 starters. Hoyt of the Yeam set the early pace but Burton of last year's High School team was out to win and stood off Hoyt and Hall in the drive on the home stretch Hoyt reversed the mile decision and beat Hall by less than a foot.

The broad jump after the shower proved a good contest Cole winning on his final jump with 19 feet 11½ inches a good performance under the conditions.

The relay race found teams on the start representing Newton High School Alumni, New High School and Y. M. C. A. The teams were closely matched for the first 2 sets of runners but on the 3d relay McCrudden for Alumni gave his team a decided lead and Fullerton held his ground towin, with this year's school team second.

DISAPPROVE PLAN FOR CARE OF FIELD

Without attempting to pass on the legality of the plan, the Newton School Committee Monday night disapproved the proposal of Mayor Sinclair Weeks that a part of the proceeds of the athletic contests at the high school athletic fields be turned into the city treasury to reimburse the city for the care and maintenance of the field.

The committee likewise deemed it inadvisable for a member of the committee to represent it on the high school athletic board, as suggested by the mayor.

Relative to the proposal to use some of the proceeds from the games to reimburse the city, the committee sug-gested that the matter might be taken up again in the future, in the event that the construction of the new stadium results in a great increase in the profits.

The report of the sub-committee on sites and playgrounds, which had investigated the situation, was accepted by the committee. The report, signed by the members of the sub-committee, Joseph F. Lockett, chairman; W. F. Coan and F. Marcina Butts, gave a de-tailed description of the workings of the high school athletic board and in conclusion made the following recom mendations:

A. At present we do not recommend any attempt be made to return any part of the funds credited to the Boys' Athletics account to the City Treasury, assuming that such procedure would be entirely lawful. To sugure would be entirely lawful. To suggest otherwise might considerably hamper and curtail the excellent work now being done. Since these activities are in a sense self-supporting the primary purpose should be to encourage more boys to participate in athletics irrespective of whether or nor they are qualified to engage in actual competition. A larger fund would provide equipment for more boys. The money should, of course, be properly and wisely spent as we believe it has been in the past. With the building of the stadium the revenue may increase considerably. If such should prove to be the case this matter can again be considered.

B. It seems unnecessary for any member of the School Committee to be added to the Board of Boys' Athletics.

C. We recommended that the Bur. gest otherwise might considerably

Letters To The Editor

The recent Pageant was the culmin ation of a very successful effort to portray the history of Newton during its 300 years and all held upon the public ground of the City, The Newpublic ground of the City, The New-ton Centre playground. This play-ground is an example of the foresight of the past generation that provided for such an event little thinking that their efforts would be portrayed in such an unique way with the various parts taken by the children and the grown ups.

The thought came to me how much is this generation doing for the next; we cannot live on the work of our ancestors but must be doing something to provide for the future especially in the way of added public open spaces and playgrounds. Leaving out the open spaces along the Charles River, which is mostly river bank, we have but little area set aside for the future.

If one looked into the manner in which they were secured it would be found that often it was a gift or partial gift such as the Newton Centre Playground used continually, and the Edmands Park, that few people know about with its deep ravine of beauty

ONE THING AND ANOTHER By L. D. G. Bentley

O, water, water, I'm surprised,
For one would almost think,
The row you've raised in Newton,
Mass., Was caused by stronger drink.

From Prohibition talk, at least, You've given us a rest, And proved as far as liquids go You represent the best.

Our Aldermanic strife was brief, The ringside patron notes, While one group had the argument, The other had the votes.

Many great institutions will close for July and August. This column will be among them. Some of us will be away for all that time, others part of it and a few, including myself, will stick around. The things that you and I have considered from week to week we put shall aside for two months, tackling them and new questions with a fresh vigor in the autumn.

It behooves us then to get together on some matters this week. As hard as you may try to avoid it you are bound to find yourself confronted with politics in various phases. In this connection I have only one bit of advice to offer—don't be swept off your feet by the prophets who tell you that a number of things are certain to happen in the primaries and election. Remember that victories won in the Summer have turned out to be defeats in the Fall. It is the easiest thing in the world to declare emphatically that this and that is bound to occur. A safer bet is that conditions are likely to change. Just be cautious in your political prognostications, that's all.

One thing that slipped my mind as cations, that's all.

One thing that slipped my mind as far as writing about it for this column, but which has made a favorable and permanent impression with yours truly is the new bridge at Farlow Park. It is a credit to all those who had any part in its construction. As an ornament it adds greatly to the charm of this beauty spot of Ward 7. If you haven't seen it and are appreciative of a genuine attempt to make one of our parks more attractive than ever. I suggest that you drive around that way.

Things will go on, of course, wheth-

in our loyalty to the founders of our commonwealth and their achieve-

In order to show that I am not prejudiced against the use of tobacco I am ready to confess that I am no stranger to pipe, cigar or cigarette in that order of preference. My habits, however, are not the subject of this article, which is, intended to include all smokers. Perhaps I should not have widening the scope to that extent for those who cause my present peeve are stookers who are indifferent to "No smoking" signs. I assume that along about the time Sir Walter Raleigh made history by lighting his pipe and causing his servant to think him afire,—I say, somewhere in those days there was placed on the wall a printed request. "Kindly do not smoke here." I don't know upon what wall it was hung, but I do know that ever since the custom of tobacco smoking was inaugurated there have been places where it was either inappropriate or dangerous to have a lighted pipe, etc.

Everybody who smokes—our numbers have been increased with the new freedom—ought to be ready to concede enjoyment of that privilege. When you stop and ask yourself, "How would I go about it if called the hook is apt to make us throw up our hands and say, "I must sit the book is apt to make us throw up our hands and say, "I must sit the book is apt to make us throw up our hands and say, "I must sit the words and then not a word is said if everybody goes ahead and smokes. Maybe smoking is defiance of these admonitions is intended as a display of independence or so called personal liberty. At any rate it is on the town to that extent peeve are stookers who are indifferent to "No smoking," is gins. I prove that all then not a word is said if everybody goes ahead and smokes. Maybe smoking is defiance of these admonitions is intended and smokes. Maybe smoking is defiance of these admonitions is intended and smokes. We are inclined to be mentally lazy in perusal of histories. The size of the book is apt to make us throw up our hands and say, "I must sit down sometime and read that all through." But few of us ever find the time to do that very thing. When, however, we are handed something vital in a brief form we are almost certain to be grateful. Therefore, the writer who can say what he has to in something like a thousand words may be certain of a wide readtainment we may express a longing for the stage delights that are now longer ours. Then we get to talking about favorites of the footlights and wonder has become of them. More than likely you recall dainty Louise Galloway. You will be interested to learn that she has a tearoom in Brookomestead and by some magic has ransformed it into as delightful a pot as you would wish to visit. The est known New York artists, friends hers, have given some marvelous aches to the interior and exterior corations which you will find fascin-ng. There are a lot of other things this charming actress, who is not only happy but prosperous in rustic sur-coundings.

three days the embers burned, leaving charred trunks and barren ground, mute testimony that hore had once been living trees.

What happened next? Dan will tell you. This particular tract of land is dear to many boyish hearts, for it is the camping ground of 900 Boy Scouts of the Norumbega Council of Newton. Thanks to Dan's insistence on a clearing around each building, only two of the fourteen camp shacks belonging to the different troops were destroyed. In the heart of the woods the boys had built an Indian Village around the very stone mortar used by the Indians in grinding their corn and another

Some weeks ago, on the afternoon of May 4th, the woodland on the entire east side of Nobscot Hill went up in flames. "Dan" Ingraham, the Ranger, will tell about it for years to come. He was in the woods with a group of Boy Scouts when the wind brought them warning. The roaring noise, explosive crackle and snap of fire among the big pines and the smell of smoke reached them not a moment too soon. Thick underbrush and pines lay ast inder directly in the path of the fire. There was no chance to check it!

Back in the woods, shut up in the Ranger's car as in a trap, was his faithful dog, Rags, (rescued years ago from mansy puppyhodo on the Texas border). Directing the boys how to escape, Dan ran along the wood road, directly in the path of the fire to the car. Smoke blinded him and flames were swirling toward the car when he reached it. Fearing an explosion of the gasoline tank, he made no attempt to save the car or its contents. Releasing the dog, he whistled to him and dashed for freedom down the mountainside—a wild race for life with wind and flames at his heels. Twice Rags dropped behind, confused by fire and smoke; twice Danreturned and whistled him to heel. The third time Rags disappeared, and only when Dan reached the safety of the highway did he discover the dog, dashing blindly back and forth across the open field, but safe! In twenty short minutes the fire had swept the entire hillside, wiping out all living there were devastated. Firemen from four towns and many volunteers responded to urgent calls for help. For three days the embers burned, leaving charred trunks and barren ground, mute testimony that here had once been living trees.

Must We Have a Fight? New Sudden Freezing Idea Mr. Swope Has a Plan Why Women Chatter

An English newspaper suggests that Europe should unite against us in an economic boycott, as European coun-tries united against Germany in 1914. It would be too bad to have an industrial, economical fight. But, fortu

The ten billions that we sent to our dear friends in Europe last time would be spent on our own fight this time, and 100 billions more if necessary. Three American workmen can pro-

News important to storekeepers, farmers and the public describes a new process of freezing foods suddenly, at an extremely low temperature, 49 degrees below zero, preserving their quality marvellously and indefinitely Violently sudden freezing prevents formation of crystals and breaking of liquid cells.

Meat, separate steaks, chops, fish oysters, vegetables, fruits, are instan-taneously frozen in transparent pack-

California and Florida might try this sudden freezing process in preserving orange and lemon juice. Concerning the new process, in-vented by Clarence Birdseye, packers, farmers, and merchants may obtain information by writing Mr. Chester, president of the General Foods Com-pany, 250 Park ave., New York City.

Mr. Gerard Swope, president of General Electric, plans for future unemployment crises.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

Autoists who attempt to drive onto Washington street from Adams, Crafts and other side streets during those hours when traffic is heavy, do so at the peril of their lives. Many operators of cars west bound along Washington street do not slacken their pace to permit cars to emerge from side streets but rush onward at high speeds, forcing the drivers of the other cars to dead stops to avoid collisions. Police traps should be frequently set at points along Washington street and enough of the selfish, reckless speeders brought into court to convince this type that they must obey the traffic laws.

What is the sense of compelling automobiles to carry registration plates when many automobiles have plates attached so covered with dirt, rust—or otherwise illegible that the numerals on them cannot be read?

Those persons who petitioned the Mayor to allow skating on the small pond at Farlow Park, Newton cannot be old timers in this city or they would be somewhat sceptical about the feasibility of such a plan. We have a distinct recollection as to the reason the water was drained from this small pond in our boyhood days. Even when the pond had water in it during the winter season there was little opportunity for skating. As soon as ice commenced to form, the boys going to the Bigelow School would dare one another by teetering across the thin ice. If a youngster got his feet wet in such a performance he was somewhat of a hero. If he became fully submerged when the ice broke under him, he was a real hero—if popular, and he cot the respective it was not a performance of the proke under him, he was a real hero—if popular, him, he was a real hero—if popular and he got the raspberry, if unpopu and he got the raspberry, if unpopular.

One winter morning, a couple of boys who had gotten their shees well soaked at the park pond were sent home tho get dry shoes and stockings by Master Sawin of the Bigelow School. They were told to return for the afternoon session. The next morning several boys came to school with wet feet, and they also were sent home for the morning. The following day about twenty boys appeared at school with wet feet and "Daddy" Sawin got wise. He communicated with the Street Department and had the water in the pond drained off. One method of obtaining half-day vacations was abolished.

Frequently, on evenings, our gang would resort to Farlow Park to play "relievo," "Bull in the Ring," or similar games. In those years the young folks attending Eliot Church held occasional socials which we youngsters who used the park as a playground termed "ice cream festivals." The young people conducting the socials always seemed to order more than enough ice cream, and the surplus was donated to the kids frequenting Fartributing an equal amount. The company guarantees 5 per cent on the funds accumulated, until such time as unemployment shall make it desirable to utilize the fund for the benefit of idle employees.

The employes will contribute half, the company half, the workers will get all, the company none, a fair arrangement.

King George and Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales, and guests from Windsor Castle were present at the Ascot races recently, when, close to them, Walter Holbein, a bookmaker, was killed in the betting ring by a bolt of lightning. Good churchmen in Scotland will say it was punishment for gambling and a warning to the King George, modern and enlightened, knows that the broker was not killed by a shot from Heaven, but by vagrant electricity, returning from the clouds to earth. He knows that church bells do not drive away lightning, whatever they may do to demons, since great cathedrals and humble little churches are provided with lightning rods, each copper spike pointing upward, emphasizing this country than the victim of our crude humor, but we never saw one. If he only knew just which one villain to blame for the outrage he would have assaulted the culprit tooth and nail. But, with several apparently in the plot, poor Jack had to allow his anger to cool, assisted by "sincere" expressions of sympathy from the rest of the gang.

After the First Twenty-five Thousand Miles .

THE VALUE of sound design, good materials and careful craftsmanship is especially apparent in the new Ford after the first twenty-five thousand miles. Long, continuous service emphasizes its mechanical reliability and economy of operation and up-keep.

As you drive the Ford through many months and years you will develop an increasing pride in its appearance and a growing respect for the substantial worth that has been built into it. From every standpoint - in everything that goes to make a good automobile—you will know that you have made a far-seeing, satisfactory purchase.

Wherever you go, you hear enthusiastic praise of the car and this significant, oft-repeated phrase-"I'm glad I bought a Ford."

A FORD owner in New York tells of a 13,000-mile trip across the United States and back in sixty days and says "the car was extremely economical to operate, comfortable and speedy." A grateful father tells how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield saved his wife and children from serious injury.

To test tires, a large company drove a new Ford day and night, for an average of 500 miles every twenty-four hours. It was still giving satisfactory service after 105,000 miles.

A Ford car that had fallen into Fernan Lake was submerged for twelve days before being raised. After a new battery and carburetor bowl were installed, it was driven back to Spokane under its own power.

Many police departments have written of the special advantages of the Ford in crowded traffic because of its alert speed, acceleration, and ease of control. An increasing number of fleet owners are also purchasing the Ford because their cost figures have given conclusive proof of its economy of operation and up-keep.

In addition to important triumphs in Germany, France and Italy, the Ford won six out of seven leading places in a contest in Finland, first and second in the Rafaela races in Argentina, first and second in the run from Copenhagen-to-Paris-to-Copenhagen, three gold medals in England, first ranking in the durability test over the tortuous Amancaes road in Peru, and first place in the 1930 reliability run conducted by the Royal Automobile Club of Sweden.

This contest was an exceptionally severe test of endurance and sturdy construction because it was held in the dead of winter and covered 600 miles of steady running over snow-covered country roads and mountainous hills.

The hot weather this week has again emphasized the nuisance created by the use of hot tar by the Street Department for repairing streets. It's about time some one in authority stopped this disgraceful and disagreeable method of patching streets.

In view of the large amount of unemployment in state and nation the strike of the plumbers for more pay and less hours of work seems to be a case of poor judgment.

English Law Demanded Attendance at Church

Sunday holiday makers and trippers will be interested to know that a statutory law in England years ago prohibited such frivolity, says the London Dally Mall. The Act of Huffermity. Daily Mail. The Act of Uniformity 1552, requires: All persons, except 1552, requires: All persons, except those dissenting from the worship or doctrines of the Church of England and usually attending some place of worship not belonging to the Church of England, are, if they have no law-ful or reasonable excuse for absence, to endeavor to attend their parish church or accustomed chapel, reasonably prevented from so doing, some other place where the divine service of the Church of England is performed, on all Sundays and other days ordained and used to be kept as holy days, and to abide there orderly and soberly during the time of common prayer, preaching, or other di vine service there performed. Failure to observe this law renders the offending "parishioner or inhabitant of a parish" who is not legally exempt from attendance at divine serv-ice on Sundays and holy days "liable in proceedings taken against him in ecclesiastical courts to be censured for the offense, admonished as to his attendance in the future, and to be condemned in the costs of the proceedings."

Ancient Builders' Idea

of Humor Quite Modern

The builders of the old churches in England were not so serious but that they now and then perpetrated a joke, even in stone. On more than one of their creations they carved in relief a scene representing a monk preaching solemnly to a flock of geese. The same humorous spirit is sometimes to be detected in the domestic architecture of early times.

Just upon the boundarles of Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire formerly stood an old rambling farmhouse. The living-room was long and low, and on the center beam that went across the ceiling was inscribed this legend: "If you are cold, go to Hertfordshire."

This seemingly inhospitable invita-tion was explained by the fact that one-half of the room was in one coun-ty and one-half in the other. The fire-the summer months.

Food Requirements
According to Prof. V. H. Mottram, an adult woman needs but 2,500 calories a day. An adult man engaged in sedentary occupation requires 3,000 calories daily. A man doing hard work should have 5,000 calories. The physiological reason given is that the feminine organism utilizes food more economically than man, A child's food should not be proportioned according to his age, as he requires more than to his age, as he requires more than half the food of an adult. Boys and girls of fourteen are to be considered as adults in food utilization.

Sanity in the Madhouse

I should imagine that a madhouse would be an excellent place to be sane in. I'd a long sight rather live in a nice, quiet, secluded madhouse than in intellectual clubs full of unintellectual people, all chattering non-sense about the newest book of philosophy; or in some of those carnest, el-bowing sort of Movements that want you to go in for Service and help to take away somebody else's toys.—From "The Poet and the Lunatics," by G. #### France Has Monopoly on Roquefort Cheese

The pilgrim father of all cheese in America today is Roquefort, which can trace its "blue blood" as far as the First century, when Pliny remarked about its excellent flavor.

Attempts have been made in the United States to duplicate the famous French product, but such experiments have been fruitless, as the ideal curing conditions of Aveyron, France, cannot be reproduced anywhere in the world. The wholesale price of the imported Roquefort is so low, and the flavor so appetizing that American hostesses are purchasing it in greater quantities than ever before.

Epicures bow their heads in respect to the shepherd whose misfortune was responsible for its origin. He left his lunch of barley bread and native cheese made of sheep's milk in a cave near the town of Roquefort, in southeastern France, to keep it cool until noontime. A sudden storm arose which forced him to forget about his lunch. Two weeks later he passed that way again, and thought about his abandoned food. He found the bread worthless and the cheese covered with a curious culture mold. His curiosity and hunger being great, he nibbled a bit, and found the cheese had a flavor surpassing any food he had ever eaten. noontime. A sudden storm arose which

Stone Carving Thought to Be of Bronze Age

On a hill near Allinge, in Bornholm, Denmark, a large block of stone carv-ings has been found on the face of the rock, which, it is thought, belongs to the Bronze age. The carvings are made with flint, and show a vessel about forty-three inches in length, with a smaller one above it. The date is supposed to be from 1000 to 500 B. C.

There will be difficulty in removing the stone, as the ground is at present a quarry, but it is proposed to divide it into parts and remove it to the Ronne museum garden. Rocks of the Iron age have been found in parts of Denmark, but this is the largest one yet found of the Bronze age, in that country.

English coins have also been plowed up in Denmark and Germany recently.
The coins are about 1,000 years old, and are from the reigns of Sven Estridsen of Denmark, Canute the Great, Hardicanute and Magnus the Good. These consist of pennies, with the names, in runic letters, of makers of coins, Assur and Alfrik, and the arms of Lund, Exeter and Roskilde cathedrals on one side, the other having the figurehead.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

America's Great Charm

Not all the changes in the trend of travel have taken place from this country to Europe. If no foreigner ever comes to this country for the same reason Americans travel abroad -that is, in search of beauty, culture or entertainment—we can console our-selves with the knowledge that the European industrial regards us with the keenest curiosity.

Mass production and the wonders accomplished in the United States are on the tongue of every business man and manufacturer in Europe. They hear tales of extraordinary achieve-ments and they are coming to this country in increasing numbers to see whether the trick is turned—and, if so, how .- Nation's Business.

Silk is graded for thickness of thread, the size being measured in deniers. The French denier weighs one-twentieth part of a gramme. The basis for raw and thrown silk adopted by the permanent committee of the by the permanent committee of the Parls international congress of 1900 was a fixed length and a variable weight, the standard of length being 450 meters and the weight the denier. Thus a bale of silk of 13 to 15 deniers means that a thread is required of which 450 meters, measured off, will weigh between 13 and 15 deniers. Silk is reeled as fine as 8 to 10 deniers and as coarse as 28 to 30 deniers: for s purposes even 38 to 40 deniers.

In the Outer Hebrides, where soli-tude may be had in wholesale quanti-ties, lies the tiny Island of Eriskay, about three miles long and two miles about three miles long and two miles wide. It was in July, 1745, that Charles Stuart landed on this rock spot, and, feeling the ground of his family's ancient kingdom under his feet for the first time, exclaimed, "I am come home," Charles took with him from France some seeds of the pink convolvulus and sowed them in commemoration of his landing and of the sanctuary he had received in France. This plant still grows on Eriskay, and it is believed not to exist anywhere else in the British isles.

A youth recently mounted the net-work of Brooklyn bridge with the evi-dent object of ending it all. "Come back," called a big-hearted

Railless Railroading

It is related of a certain engineering officer, formerly of the A. E. F., that, in the course of an inspection tour in France, he noticed that most of the ties were scored. After several miles of line had been inspected, and the scored ties continued to be much in evidence, he remarked to the French officer accompanying him:

"How long did you run the railroad, anyhow, before you laid rails on the ties?"—Railway Age.
